

THE PROPHET'S CHILDHOOD

In the care of his grandfather

Muhammad ﷺ was returned to his mother in Makkah when he was five years old. At the age of 6, Aminah decided to take her son to visit his uncles in Yathrib (Madinah). After the journey and on their way back to Makkah Aminah fell sick and died at a place between Makkah and Madinah called Al-Abwaa. Muhammad ﷺ was sad for his mother's death. Upon arrival to Makkah, The orphan boy moved to live with his grandfather 'Abdul-Muttalib, who was the leader and the most important man in Makkah.

'Abdul-Muttalib used to sit on a blanket near the Ka'bah, where he was always surrounded by the leaders and the chiefs of Makkah. No one was allowed to sit on the blanket, however Muhammad ﷺ the little boy would come and sit on the blanket. His uncles would move him away, but 'Abdul-Muttalib used to tell them to leave him, he will have a huge matter, so he would sit Muhammad ﷺ with him on the blanket, tap his back and admire everything he does.

In the care of his uncle

Know very well that no thing stays as is. Hardships strike when everything seems okay. 'Abdul-Muttalib's care and love to his grandson did not last for a long time. While Muhammad ﷺ was eight years old 'Abdul-Muttalib became ill and died. Before his death, 'Abdul-Muttalib told his son, Abu Talib, to take care of Muhammad ﷺ as he used to do. Abu Talib became the leader of Makkah after the death of his father. He and his wife Fatimah Bint Asad had many children of their own, but they loved Muhammad more than their own children. They took good care of Muhammad ﷺ and they raised him up with their children. They even gave him extra care because he was an orphan.
